As true nomads, Restaurant NOMADS travels around the world in search of undiscovered flavours, exciting product and authentic food experiences.

Our new destination: Vietnam.

Vietnam, the country of enormous chaos caused by the millions of scooters racing around, the lively street life at night and fantastic street food with it. Everyone who has visited Vietnam will recognise this image. There are small improvised restaurants with the tastiest dishes on every corner of every street.

Vietnam has a rich history of more than 4000 years with many cultural influences from, among others, China, Japan and France which is easily reflected in the dishes served in the country. Those traveling through Vietnam will encounter different dishes in every region. Every city has "its" traditional dish of which they are extremely proud. Because of this you will eat the best Bún chả in Hanoi and for Cao lầu you have to be in Hoi An.

During our journey from North to South Vietnam we came across several intriguing new flavours and memorable food experiences. Today, we will take you with us on a journey to experience it all.
